The Apostrophe Use – Possessive Case

- Possessives show ownership.
- They show that something belongs to someone or something.

For example, if we want to show that a book belongs to the girl, we can state:

The girl has a book,
That is her book,
That book is hers, or
The girl's book.

➤ The Possessive Case is mainly used with nouns denoting living beings. Besides these nouns, the following nouns can be used in the Possessive Case:

- a) Nouns denoting time and distance: two days' journey;
- b) Names of countries and towns or cities: New York's taxis;
- c) Names of cosmic bodies: the moon's inspiration;
- d) Collective nouns like government, party, army, crew, family, society, company, etc.: A family's custom.

Coca Cola's advertising campaign.

- With names of countries, cities or animals you may use the structure with of:

New York's taxis. – The taxis of New York;

The lion's teeth. – The teeth of the lion;

Germany's big cities. – The big cities of Germany.

- The Possessive Case is also used in some set expressions. We can add -'s not only to nouns but also to some pronouns and some adverbs of time.

Someone's book.

Yesterday's excursion.

There are four rules to form the possessive case:

Rule 1: to form the possessive of a singular noun, add an apostrophe and an s ('s).

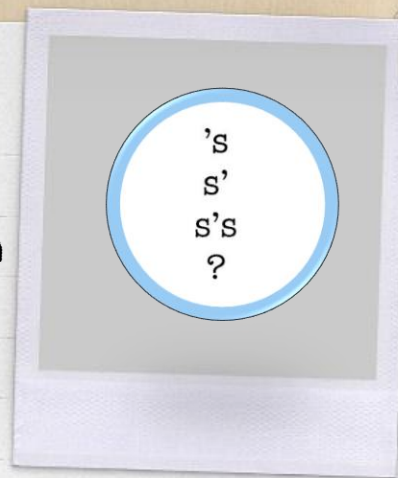

The woman's bag is very expensive.

Bob's presentation is great!

Rule 2: for a plural noun ending in s, add only an apostrophe (').

The girls' laptop is on the shelf.

The boys' bikes are new.

Rule 3. add an apostrophe and an s ('s) at the end of a noun phrase, it indicates that something belongs to all the people or things mentioned in the phrase.

That is Carlos and María's house.

That girl is Alex and Karen's daughter.

Rule 4: add an apostrophe and an s ('s) or only an apostrophe (') at the end of a proper noun ending in s.

Mrs Tess's car is red.

Charles' car is a BMW.

Anyway, classic or religious proper nouns ending in s usually take only an apostrophe (') to form the possessive case:

Jesus' disciples.

Sophocles' plays.

- Possessive pronouns and adjectives are two different ways to show possession in English.

Possessive Adjectives and Pronouns
possessive adjective	possessive pronoun
my	mine
your	yours
his	his
her	hers
its	its
our	ours
your	yours
their	theirs

My	Your
His
Possessive Adjectives & Pronouns
Hers	Ours
Theirs

- Possessive Adjectives go before nouns.

Possessive Adjective + Noun

My dog is big.

Her cat is brown.

Their sister works downtown.

- Possessive Pronouns go after the noun.

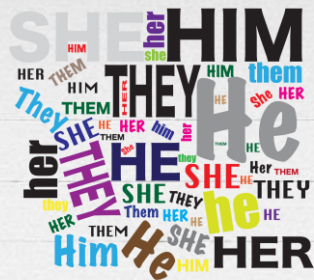

Noun + Possessive Pronoun

The dog is mine.

YOUR	Your book is new.
